

A Time Capsule: A Gift from the Past to the Future

A time capsule is a closed container with things inside that help people in the future learn about what life was like at a certain time.

Look at what's inside this time capsule from a person from 1973.

Think about each item and what it might mean about the person who put it in the time capsule and their life. Think about their activities and interests. Put your answers in the second column. See the example.

Item	What It Might Mean About the Person and Their Life
	This person likes to pretend they are talking to someone on the telephone. They have to have little fingers to fit into the holes of the toy phone.
